In Memoriam

CHILDRESS — In loving memory of my mother, Rosa Lee Childress, who passed away two years ago today, March 8, 1968.

Two years have passed since you left me.
I miss you now, my heart is sore,
As time goes by, I miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Remember me to your mother, Kitty.
Your loving daughter, Ruby Mae Wray.

COLEMAN — In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. Florence Annie Coleman, who passed away 8 years ago today, March 8, 1962.

We've lived sorrow's heavy cup,
Drunk deep its bitter brew.
We'll never forget the grief
Till we're again with you.

Remember me to your mother,
Daughter, Ruby Mae Wray.

DARNELLE — In memory of our baby Denise M. Darnelle on her 14th birthday, March 8, 1970. They who think that you are gone are wrong, for in our hearts you live, and always will be in memory. Mommy and Daddy Allison.

LOVING — In loving memory of our mother, Carrie G. Loving, who died March 8, 1965.

Memories are treasures no one can steal.
Partings bring heartaches
No one can heal. To those who love, the memory lives.

Treat her with tender care;
You'll never know her away.
Till you see her empty chair
Sadly missed by Lelia and Myrtle.

SHELTON — In loving memory of my mother, Winifred L. Shelton, who passed away March 8, 1959. Her life was a long sweet story. That ended as it had begun.

With love and fond remembrance,
For all, and for those not here,
Daughter, Winifred S. White.

SMITH — In memory of our father, Mr. Earnest Smith, who died 2 years ago today.
You could not say goodbye
You did not have the time
We only knew you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb.
We think of you every day
You will always be remembered
Though you have passed away.

Daughters:
Ada Greene and Rose Pleasant
TAYLOR — In loving memory of our father, Willie Taylor, who passed away Feb. 2, 1960.
Our Heavenly Father understands your pain.
We miss more than you could hear.
He called you to your heavenly home.
To keep you in His care.

Wife and children, Lillie Ann, James, Elmore, Sarah, Billy, Willie Mae, William and Paul.

TWEEDY — In loving memory of my husband and my father, Robert L. E. Tweedy, who passed away 5 years ago today.
Have you ever lost a loved one?
Who was very dear to you?
One you loved so very true?
And miss him like we do.
On the memory of that morning.

When we heard that you were dead,
Our hearts were crushed with sorrow.
And many tears were shed.
Have you ever wept those bitter tears?
That drop like falling rain.
If you have never had these feelings,
Then we pray you never do.
For when Jesus takes a loved one.

He takes a part of you.
Wife, Lucille, Loving daughter, Joann Wells.
WELLS — In loving memory of Everett F. Wells.
To his name will ever be. The key that unlocks memory.
For one who is gone but cherished yet.
His beloved face will never fade from our hearts.
Mom and Dad.

WOOTEN — In loving memory of my husband and my father, William W. Wooten, who passed away 1 year ago today.
You are not forgotten loved one
For will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by, we miss you more.

Your loving smile, your gentle smile
No one can fill your vacant place.
Wife and Children.

A funeral will be at 2 p.m. Monday in Trinity United Methodist Church here, followed by burial at Peninsula Memorial Park.

Today Soviet Women Told They're Lovely

MOSCOW (AP)—Yelena Chukhnyuk is a Hero of Socialist Labor who likes to drive locomotives because it is "romantic." Maria Rudenko and Tayisia Shivelova are sisters, recipients of the Order of Lenin, who "faithfully serve the motherland" as lieutenant colonels in the Soviet navy. "These women have adult children and grandchildren, but are they not beautiful today?" asks the government newspaper Izvestia. No Russian would be rash enough to answer "No," for today is International Women's Day in the Communist world and the Soviets' rigid observance of this holiday puts the West's Mothers Day to shame.

WHILE OFFICIALDOM praises their productivity and "development of full potential," communism's hard-working women prefer to forget about driving trucks, operating cranes and shoveling snow and be pampered by their men. It is the one day of the year when a Russian woman can expect a man to offer her his seat on crowded buses, trams and subways. She also can expect a small gift—perfume, champagne or a colored kerchief—and a 4-ribbun bunch of yellow mimosa blossoms.

"But no breakfast in bed. That is going too far," said one Muscovite family man. Women outnumber men, 129 million to 110 million in the Soviet Union. Glorified as heroic workers in quilted coveralls, forced to fill the manpower gap left by heavy Soviet casualties in World War II, the women are proud of their equality.

But manual labor has exacted a price in a loss of femininity. Mrs. Russia is in the cellar of world beauty and fashion, and she still has more housework and less free time than the men.

A RECENT SURVEY in Literaturnaya Gazeta-Literary Gazette showed that the average Russian woman spends 35 hours a week on household work in addition to holding down a 40-hour-a-week job. Her husband helps out, but only spends 19 hours a week on housework.

A goodly portion of that 19 hours will be used up today, while the women bask in a glow of laudatory speeches, television tributes and greetings from the Communist party Central Committee.

"Today, all flowers are for you, my love," bannared the weekly newspaper Nedelya.

"Our dear woman workers, we men wish you the best," cooed Izvestia. "Be always such as you are now."

The Central Committee promised to continue "doing our utmost to see the Soviet women combine active production and social activities with happy motherhood and care of the family."

The women take advantage of all this attention, for tomorrow it's back to the tractor and the snow plow. As locomotive driver comrade Chukhnyuk pointed out: "We women don't want to lag behind the men, now do we?"

Test School Campus Is All Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Learning at the experimental Parkway Program school is a social event, but its 500 pupils attend classes eight hours a day, six days a week and get no summer vacation. The pupils choose their own teachers and, apart from a few basic courses, study what they want and go where they want in the city to study it.

The experiment was conceived by John Bremer, a British-born teacher, to help solve overcrowding in the city's high schools.

Bremer formerly was director of the Twin Bridge Model School District in New York's lower East Side and was with the Metropolitan Applied Research Center in New York before he came here to head the unusual school.

Complete Change
"I realized the roles available to students and faculty alike in a regular school were not roles that produced learning," Bremer says. "I asked myself how could I restructure the student's role so he could learn. Then I realized I couldn't do that without changing the whole social system."

"In no other school is education a social activity. The standard education is antisocial. We make education social."

Starting with a $60,000 grant from the Ford Foundation, Bremer opened the Parkway Program with full accreditation Feb. 17, 1969. He began with 150 ninth to 12th grade pupils. Now there are 500.

The pupils were chosen by
